

RUSSIAN DRIVE BLOCKED BY TEUTONIC FORCE IN GALICIA

Desperate Assaults Upon Bridgehead Near Halicz Reported From Petrograd With Decision of Bloody Fighting In Doubt

RUMANIANS BEAT BACK
VON FALKENHAYN ARMIES

French Capture Town of Salliesailles Closing In Upon German Positions In Le Bois St. Pierre Vaast From North

SUMMARY OF WAR NEWS
Russia reports the launching of desperate frontal attacks against the bridgehead at Halicz, fierce attacks against the Teutonic lines in the Volhynian region and the first snow of the season in the Carpathian mountains.
The British war office reports the successful storming of the hills north of Talsval, the advance of the British troops in the vicinity of Gendecourt and Warlencourt, the points of their line nearest the Bapaume.
Reports of the French war office announce that the northern or upper jaw of the French snipers reaching out to engulf the powerful German positions in the Bois St. Pierre Vaast has crunched down upon the town of Salliesailles, clearing the town of the Germans.
Rome announces that the Austrian lines have been pierced in the Trentino.
Bucharest reports that King Ferdinand has checked the Teutonic advances.

PARIS, October 19.—Rumania has turned definitely upon the Teutonic foe and is holding him firmly. Indeed in places, according to the official accounts of the struggle in Transylvania, issued by Bucharest last night, the Rumanian armies under the command of King Ferdinand, have been successful in a number of counterattacks, and have driven the von Falkenhayn armies back beyond the Transylvania border in a number of places.
While the Rumanians were struggling severely in the southern mountain ranges, the Russians have been launching a series of desperate attacks against the bridgehead over the Gnila Lipa river at Halicz. Here, the reports are exceedingly bloody, as General Brusiloff, abandoning his flanking tactics, has attempted to drive his way through the Teutonic defense of the river by sheer weight of guns and men.

Decision Is Still In Doubt
No definite statement has been issued by either side as to the results of the fighting which was proceeding at the time the despatches were sent.

In the West and in Macedonia, the Allies have kept up their steady subduing at the lines of their adversaries. North of the Somme where the French have been hurling masses of men and shells at the German lines in the vicinity of Salliesailles, they report success of a marked degree. The town has fallen into their hands and the Germans have been forced back.

This advance of the French puts them in a favorable position for flanking the German positions to the south at Salliesailles and in the Bois St. Pierre Vaast, which would have been heavily fortified by the Teutonic commanders. It is now coming between two jaws of the French pincers. The lower or southern jaw protrudes from Rancourt, taking some weeks ago, while the upper jaw has now crunched down upon Salliesailles.

German Attacks Vain

The Germans attacked furiously in this last sector, but they struck in vain, for their columns were thrown back upon themselves with tremendous losses by the French artillery and machine-gun fire. South of the Somme, in the vicinity of Helloy-en-Shanterre, the German attack delivered yesterday morning proved successful, but the French counter, launched in the afternoon, drove them out of the positions they had taken and captured some of the Teutonic trenches.

The British also have been exceedingly active north of the River Somme. They have been hammering at the German positions on the hills north of Bapaume ever since they captured the town, some weeks ago, and yesterday they succeeded in clearing the crests and occupying the coveted positions. This locality has been the stumbling block in the path of the British advance along the lower Aisne River, but with the Germans cleared out of their points of vantage, the advance of the main under Sir Douglas Haig should be easier in the future.

Nearing Bapaume Now

North of Gendecourt the British have proceeded, gathering ground by repeated attacks that have broken through the first lines of the German trenches along the Albert-Bapaume road. In the region of Warlencourt

IRISH CALL FOR AMBASSADOR PAGE

Want Him To Inspect Prisons Where Rebels Are Kept—Asquith Pledges Permission

(Associated Press by Federal Wireline.)
LONDON, October 19.—An appeal to the American ambassador to visit the prisons in which the Irish rebels are being held by the British government was made in the house of commons yesterday during the course of a debate on the Irish question. Timothy Healey, member of the house voiced the appeal and Premier Asquith replied that "if the ambassador will take the trouble I shall be most happy to afford him every facility."
The introduction of the American ambassador's name followed a stormy scene, which was one of several that came on the heels of the defeat of a resolution proposed by John Redmond, nationalist member and leader of the nationalist party. The resolution criticized the government of Ireland, and was lost by an overwhelming vote of 303 to 106.

Starving, Says Irishman
When the result of the vote was announced, Byrne, a nationalist member from Dublin shouted out "I tell you the Irish prisoners are starving in prison."

Premier Asquith took this immediately. "I understand," he said, "that complaints of the food received by the prisoners have been made. Any such complaints should be presented to the minister for home affairs, who will give them his instant attention, I feel quite sure."

Hardly had the premier resumed his seat when Timothy Healey, another nationalist member, made his appeal to the American ambassador. The minister for home affairs announced that there are at present still 574 Irishmen interned for the parts they played in the Irish rebellion.

No Concession Near

It was evident from the debate in the house of commons that the government at this time has no intention of enforcing the conscription act in Ireland.
Lloyd George, minister of state for munitions, stated that he is convinced that England has mismanaged the Irish question. The enthusiasm for the war and for recruiting when the war broke out has died down in Ireland, said Mr. Lloyd George, thanks largely "to the fact that it was stupidly mishandled at the outset."

The minister appealed to Mr. Redmond to use all his influence in Ireland to build it up once more, and to stimulate recruiting.

GREEN BAY, Wisconsin, October 18.—Eben Eugene Rexford, aged sixty-eight author of "Silver Threads Among the Gold," died of typhoid fever today.

and Le Barque, the point at which the British lines came nearest to their goal at Bapaume, the colonials yesterday succeeded in making marked gains, according to despatches from London.
Italy also reported successes in her fighting yesterday. Rome announced that the Italians on Mount Pasubio have broken through the last of the Austrian lines of defense between that point and Cosmagnon and Roite, and have stormed a number of Teutonic positions.
Despatches from Petrograd, received late last night, announced the first snows of the season in the Carpathian Mountains, where fierce fighting is going on.

BANDITS ROBBER AND LOOT TRAIN

Santa Fe Flier Held Up Near Bliss, Oklahoma—Express Messenger Gave Life To Duty

(Associated Press by Federal Wireline.)
BLISS, Oklahoma, October 19.—Train robbers carried out the most daring holdup of recent years not far from this place last night. Express Messenger Norman was killed while attempting to defend the safe under his charge, and the safe was forced and rifled.

The holdup took place some six miles from this town at a place selected by the robbers as most convenient for hiding the automobiles which they kept in waiting.

The Santa Fe flier was chosen as the victim and was brought to a halt by block signals turned against it. The robbers immediately entered the locomotive and forced the engineer to move his engine and the baggage and express car away from the rest of the train.

The door to the express car was then forced open, despite the efforts of Norman to keep it closed.

It was during the struggle that followed that the messenger was shot through the body and died almost instantly. His body was dragged to one side and the robbers, leaving two of their numbers as guards, proceeded to make use of dynamite to blow open the safe. After this they left the train and hurried to the side of the road where two automobiles were waiting. There were six in the band.

Power have been organized and the local authorities have sent for assistance from Tulsa and Oklahoma City.

DOUBT THE SAME BUT NOT THE PAY

Men Linger For Duty
Whether Sworn Into American Service Or Not, Says Decision

(Associated Press by Federal Wireline.)
BOSTON, October 18.—The federal court of appeals has ruled that members of the militia are still in the service for federal military purposes notwithstanding their failure to take the oath under the new defense act.

Brig-Gen. Samuel I. Johnson, commander of the National Guard said last night that the despatch from Boston giving the ruling of the federal court of appeals of the Old Bay State, bears out the attitude adopted by the militia authorities of the Territory since the introduction of the new federal oath.

"I have told the members of the guard who have declined to take the new oath that they were hurting the guard and themselves, while failing to gain what they were after, discharge from the guard. The taking of the new oath is not compulsory, but the old oath remains binding just the same unless the man takes the new one. In other words members of the Hawaiian guard regiments are already sworn to support the President of the United States, and the new oath really changes their status but little if any. Their failure to take it however, means that the regiment loses the pro rata pay for their membership and they themselves will lose any pay which might be coming to them for attending drills or camps."

VOTERS OF WINDY CITY OUTNUMBER NEW YORK

(Associated Press by Federal Wireline.)
CHICAGO, October 18.—While registration complete for the November presidential election, the voting population of Chicago shows the enormous total of 808,738. This is a new record for the Windy City, and is approximately 70,800 larger than New York's voting population.

Hurricane and Earthquake Too Much For South

Negro Population In Four States Is Terrified Although Damage Done Was Small

(Associated Press by Federal Wireline.)
ATLANTA, October 19.—Earthquake and tornado ravaged Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, and Tennessee yesterday. The hurricane blew up from the Gulf of Mexico with but little warning and swept over the southern coast states. While it was at its height the temblor came and shook the four states sorely, tumbling down chimneys, shaking houses and sending thousands of negroes in the crowded districts of the larger cities into waves of panic.
Birmingham, Tuscaloosa, New Orleans and scores of smaller cities and towns felt the earthquake. The first temblor was recorded a few moments after four o'clock yesterday afternoon. The earth waves came in rapid and sickening succession.

They passed almost too quickly to be realized, but they left behind them a confusion of alarm and chaos. The damage done was comparatively small, although scores of tall chimneys in the iron blast-furnace districts of Alabama and Tennessee were toppled over and fell into the streets or roads with tremendous crashes which increased the panic of the people in the vicinity.

In this city the quake was small, although articles on shelves in homes and stores throughout the city were shaken to the floors. In other ways the damage was small here.

Hurricane Damage
The hurricane did far more damage than the earthquake. Starting in the Gulf it moved northward, lashing the coast towns with its fury, and leaving a train of demolished houses, broken telegraph poles and ruined crops behind it. In places the wind rose to 114 miles an hour.

The weather station at Pensacola, Florida, where the government has a powerful wind gauge, reported that the gale there rose to the highest point known on that coast of heavy winter and fall storms. In Mobile the velocity recorded was 110 miles.

Several small vessels caught in the Gulf by the gale were driven ashore and foundered in the sea raised by the wind.

Persons Killed
One person is reported to have been killed in Pensacola, and in Mobile a negro was electrocuted by a fallen wire.

The lights of the coastwise towns and cities were extinguished for hours last night, and telegraph communication much interfered with. The work of repairing the telegraph and telephone lines began immediately and it was announced last night that it would be completed today.

ENTENTE BUYS MUCH TETANUS PREVENTIVE

(Associated Press by Federal Wireline.)
NEW YORK, October 19.—The official report of the New York health department issued yesterday, shows that more than $128,000 worth of antitoxin, mostly for tetanus, has been sold to the Entente since the outbreak of the great war in Europe. The Central Powers have purchased but an insignificant amount of the medicine, owing to the difficulty in delivering goods to those countries.

FREIGHT CONGESTION REPORTED STILL BAD AT SAN FRANCISCO

Lurline Brings Capacity Cargo, But Similar Amount Remains On Docks At Coast City

Capt. Troel K. Smith, of the Matson steamer Lurline which arrived from San Francisco yesterday morning, reports that serious freight congestion continues at San Francisco. Although the Lurline brought a capacity cargo, a similar amount was left on the San Francisco pier.
The steamer brought forty-six cabin passengers, and five stow-away passengers, two hundred and fifty bags of mail, thirty motor cars, 6544 tons of general cargo for Honolulu and 1925 tons for Kahului. Among returning island folk were W. E. Wall, territorial surveyor; Mrs. Wall and children, F. P. Waterhouse, of the Waterhouse Company, and Frederick Anderson, superintendent of the boys' industrial school.

Whether she will sail unloading here in time to proceed to Kahului today is uncertain. At that port she will take 65,000 cases of pineapples but carry no sugar from Maui this voyage.

The Lurline was to drydock a day and a half at San Francisco for cleaning and painting, which made her one day late in sailing. On return to that port federal inspectors will give her hull and boiler annual inspection.

WAIKIKI BATHER AT WAIKIKI DROWNED

Body of Woman Drowned At Waikiki Found Early Yesterday

A neatly folded pile of clothing in one of the women's dressing rooms at the Moana bathhouse and dancing lights upon the dark waters outside told the tale of a tragedy last night. The clothing was that of Miss Edie Crichton. The lights were those of the diving boys searching for her body. Her bathing cap was found near the Outrigger Club shortly after midnight.

Miss Crichton, who was a nurse employed in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Pamphill, Twelfth Avenue, Kaimuki, left her home shortly after five o'clock. None at the Moana last night remembers noticing her leaving the bathhouse for the water, nor were any calls for help she may have made noticed. Her clothes, discovered when the attendant was looking up the bathhouse, are the sole evidence so far of her death. Up to midnight last night the body had not been recovered.

Swim With Sore Shoulder
The victim of a drowning accident had an accident while swimming some weeks ago, her shoulder being dislocated. As a consequence she was unable to swim for some time, yesterday's attempt being the first since the accident.

It is believed that in some way she overtaxed her injured arm and, possibly, again threw the shoulder out of joint, making swimming impossible. There were few bathers in the water as late as six o'clock last night and few on the beach to notice any accident that might have taken place.

Miss Crichton was thirty-one years old, a native of Peebles Shire, Scotland. She came to the Islands five years ago and has been employed in some well-known families. Prior to being engaged by the Pamphills she was with the family of Harold Castle. Her only relative in Hawaii is her sister, the wife of John Lind, employed at Moanala.

Funeral services for the late Miss Edie Crichton, who was drowned early Tuesday evening at Waikiki, as reported in The Advertiser yesterday, were held at three o'clock yesterday afternoon in the undertaking parlors of H. H. Williams, internment following in the Nuuanu Cemetery. Rev. Canon William Ault of St. Andrew's Cathedral, officiated at the service.

Many friends of the young woman attended the service. The casket was covered with floral tributes sent by friends.

Waikiki residents and the police spent several hours on Tuesday night searching the waters for the body of the deceased. It was found early yesterday morning on the beach between the Moana Hotel and the Outrigger Club.

VENIZELAS ASKS U. S. TO PERMIT RECRUITING

LONDON, October 19.—It was reported here yesterday in despatches from Greece that the provisional government under the control of former Premier Venizelos, has opened negotiations with the government of the United States, asking for a free hand in the recruiting of Greeks now in America, for the provisional army which the Greek revolutionists are raising.

It is presumed that this is a step toward obtaining, if possible the formal recognition of the provisional government by the American administration. Should such recognition be accorded to the Venizelists it would be possible for them to send for the Greek reservists now in the United States in exactly the same manner that the reservists of the French, Italian and Russian armies were recalled for duty when those countries entered the war.

JAPANESE STUDENT GOING TO BRYAN

William Jennings To Be His Host For Three Years—Son of Famous Viscount

On his way to the mainland to become the guest of William Jennings Bryan for the next three years, H. Kano, a son of the famous Viscount Kano, of Tokio, a member of the house of peers of Japan and president of the Agricultural Society of Japan, is in the city, a passenger on the Siberia. Mr. Kano is following in the footsteps of his father, in that he is specializing in scientific agriculture, and it is to take a post-graduate course in the Nebraska Agricultural College at Lincoln that he is now on his way to America. He has just graduated from the agricultural department of the Tokio Imperial University.

Mr. Bryan is a close personal friend of Viscount Kano, in whose home he was entertained in Japan while making his world tour some years ago. At that time the viscount was Governor of Kagoshima-ken. When he learned that Mr. Kano intended coming to America to enter an agricultural college, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan joined in inviting him to make their home in Lincoln his home.

Mr. Kano found awaiting him here a letter from Mrs. Bryan urging him to come direct to Lincoln, without making any stops at Honolulu or any other American city. Mrs. Bryan said that she and her husband would not be able to welcome him personally at Lincoln, as they were then just starting for Florida to spend the winter.

Yesterday Mr. Kano made a trip through the Alca plantation and also visited the Park, guided by Mr. Murakami, editor of the Hawaii Chohoku. He spent last night at the Mochiriki.

HAWAIIAN PASTOR OF LIHUE IS DEAD

Rev. Samuel Kapu, recently called to the pastorate of the Lihue Hawaiian Church, passed away at his home Saturday night, says the Garden Island of Kauai last Tuesday. He had been ailing for some time, but his intimate friends did not realize that there was any immediate danger until the end came.

The deceased was among the most gifted and able of Hawaiian pastors, especially fluent, graceful and forceful as a speaker. His death will be a serious loss to the Hawaiian ministry, the ranks of which are being steadily thinned by death and old age.

Mr. Kapu came to Lihue two or three months ago from Lahaina, where he had been in the employ of the board of education as a teacher of music and hygiene in the historic school of Lahainaluna. He had the rare distinction, for a Hawaiian, of teaching these difficult and technical subjects in English. Prior to that time he had filled several of the more important pastorates on the Islands.

He leaves a widow and four small children. He was fifty-three years old.

AUSTRALIAN OFFICIALS TO TAKE OVER SUGAR

Recent advices from Melbourne indicate that the Australian government in order to meet the perplexing conditions that have arisen in connection with the present and future sugar situation in Australia, in so far as supply and distribution are concerned, has taken over both the Queensland production and the handling of import sugars from Java in order that sugar prices to consumers may not rise to excessive levels.

Under this arrangement the maximum price of sugar throughout Australia will be 66 a pound. The government will allow the usual discounts to manufacturers and wholesalers, but to no others.

Details of the plans for handling the sugar supplies of Australia indicate that the government has made arrangements with the Colonial Sugar Refining Co. to take over its importations arriving from Java on terms that were satisfactory to the government, and would put this sugar on the market from July 19 on.

CANNIERIES COMPANY KEEPS ALBERT HORNER

The Hawaiian Canneries Company has made Albert Horner Jr., manager of their Kapaun establishment, such flattering terms for the future that he has decided not to take the examination for a commission in the regular army, as it was announced some time ago he intended to do. Mr. Horner has made a great success of the business of the Kapaun cannery.

GREEKS SEND APPEAL FOR ASSISTANCE TO AMERICA

Ask Help To Avert Subjugation of People Deserving Only Freedom—Says Message Drawn Up By Royalist Mass Meeting

ANTI-ENTENTE CROWDS
IN GREAT DEMONSTRATIONS

Troops Narrowly Avert Clash Between Populace of Capital and Sailors and Marines of the Allies Holding Ancient City

(Associated Press by Federal Wireline.)
LONDON, October 19.—The royalists of Athens yesterday again sent an appeal to the people of the United States for sympathy and aid. Thousands of them, headed by a committee called upon the American minister and presented to him an appeal, drawn up at a mass meeting of Athenians, asking that "Americans intervene to avert the subjugation of those only desiring to remain free."

Greece remained the center of interest yesterday in spite of resumption of active fighting in several theaters of the war. The situation already drawn to the snapping point became still more acute when the Allied commander, Vice-admiral du Fournet landed several hundred additional marines and bluejackets and moved them into the city.

This step aroused the bitterness of the people afresh and the marines were hissed and denounced by the throngs that lined the streets through which the troops had to pass on their way to their stations. But for the active intervention of the Greek guards a clash would have been inevitable.

The French marines arrested at the point of their bayonets seven small boys who had been particularly obnoxious to them. The lads had been hooting the Entente and when told to stop merely ran off and continued their racket. The marines were then ordered to arrest them.

Troops Avert Clash

Instantly the crowds surged forward to rescue the lads. In a moment the throngs which had been in the vicinity when the arrest was made was augmented enormously until the streets surrounding the locality were packed with shouting, angry humanity.

Just as it seemed impossible to further avert a clash the Greek troops appeared and broke up the mob, under orders from the palace. Shortly after this the King issued strict instructions that no further anti-Entente demonstrations should be allowed and the police and military put this order into execution with severity.

Greek Cavalry Patrols

Late last night Greek cavalry patrols were keeping order throughout the city and aiding the patrols of the Allies.

On the initiative of the Central Empires, which apparently foresee an early entry into the war by Greece, Washington has been asked to permit the American legation to take charge of Austrian, Bulgarian and Turkish diplomatic and consular interests in Greece, in the event of a war in which the country takes part, or other complications which will make it necessary for the Central Powers to withdraw their representatives.

Permission has already been granted so far as the Austrian interests are concerned.

PRESIDENT TAKES UP THE TRAIL OF HUGHES

(Associated Press by Federal Wireline.)
LONG BRANCH, October 18.—President Wilson started on his stumping tour today. This will take him as far west as Chicago.
